Degree Options

Licensure courses may be applied toward a master's degree (M.S.Ed.) or an Education Specialist Degree (Ed.S.) An Education Specialist degree is an advanced degree beyond a master's degree.

The goal of The Reading Institute Reading Specialist Licensure Program is to provide teachers with expertise grounded in the latest research on reading, including issues related to reading acquisition, reading difficulties and disabilities. In a time of increasing demand for expert reading specialists and an emphasis on scores on reading tests, The Reading Institute's program provides teachers with the tools essential for teaching reading with success. The Reading Institute courses may be applied to a Master of Science in Education (M.S.Ed.) or an Education Specialist Degree (Ed.S.) which is an advanced degree beyond a master's degree.

The coursework allows teachers to acquire working knowledge of:

- Fundamentals of the English language
- Reading Coaching and Consultation
- Reading Comprehension Strategies
- Teaching and Learning with Technology
- Vocabulary Development
- Language Development (Phonological Awareness)
- Writing Instruction
- Reading Research
- Literacy Assessment
- Fluency Strategies
- Differentiated Instruction
- Practicum Experience
